The lesson of giving back & helping those in need

In every school across Baldwin County, students are learning one of life's greatest lessons: it is more blessed to give than to receive.

Schools in Baldwin County engage in a variety of initiatives aimed at giving back to support their community and provide for those in need. Students give their time by volunteering for Coastal Cleanup, Special Olympics, and at nursing homes and various community functions. They host programs to show appreciation to our veterans, and organize toy drives and blood drives.

Our children and teachers also raise money to support local social services such as United Way, Ecumenical Ministries, and Toys for Tots. They've even held special collections for communities affected by natural disasters.

One initiative unique to Foley Elementary and Foley feeder schools was established to provide families with a warm meal on Thanksgiving Day - Turkey Take Out. In the first year, the program provided meals to 60 families. Now in its seventh year, the program has expanded to include Gulf Shores and Rosinton, and will provide a full turkey, all the fixings, and non-perishable food items to almost 225 families.

Over the years, Turkey Take Out has evolved into a community partnership of churches, civic organizations, and active citizens. Dr. Lawrence, Principal of Foley Elementary, said, "A child is not able to learn if they're hungry. We do whatever we need to do to help our children and families."

This time of year, half of our schools are collecting canned food for Prodissee Pantry and Ecumenical Ministries. Officials are estimating that 20,000 pounds of canned goods will be donated to support families over the holidays. Congratulations to Spanish Fort Elementary for collecting more than any school in the county with over 3,200 pounds!

Another great program and example of community partnership was started by the Baldwin County Sheriff's Office. Pennies For Puppies began four years ago to raise money for the purchase of a new drug dog, a cost of $12,000. The department was about to retire several dogs that were approaching the end of their service life. Half of our schools participated, raising close to $15,000 the first year. To date, three new dogs have been added to the K9 Unit. Corporal Jeff Spaller said, "These K9's have taken a lot of drugs off the streets. It's the gift that keeps giving." Each participating school receives a visit and demonstration by one of the dogs during Red Ribbon Week.

Recently, Daphne Schools rallied to provide over $10,000 to one of their own, Jon Mason Lim. A third grader at Daphne Elementary, Jon Mason was diagnosed with a serious brain tumor. Funds raised are assisting the family with medical expenses. The effort expanded to the community that has also provided significant support to the family. Baldwin County Schools have a rich history of giving back and supporting those in need. Students are eager to serve others and recognize what a difference they can make in the lives of their neighbors. What better life lesson is there?
